Course Outcomes:

Talas and Notation:

The word ‘music’ is integrally associated with rhythm, scale, meter, and tempo. If there is music, there must be rhythm. In music performance, if a person is efficient in singing but not in rhythm, he or she is not a good musician, and such music is not melodious. One of the qualities of a good singer is performing music with melody and rhythm. The ability to sing in such a manner with melody and rhythm is fundamental grammatical knowledge in a song, called Notation Learning. There are three types of notation: 1. Akarmatrik Method, 2. Hindustani/Bhatakhande Method, and 3. Chandamatrik Notation Method.

Among these three types of notation, students can learn the technique of composing a song by learning the ‘Akarmatrik’ and ‘Hindustani’ Notation systems.
